

*Footer is the grey outline box with 'find us on facebook ...etc' and the sagepay card security image inside, I have drawn an arrow to it each time.

Footer on a page with very little content (footer sits beneath products, and not all the content on the page):

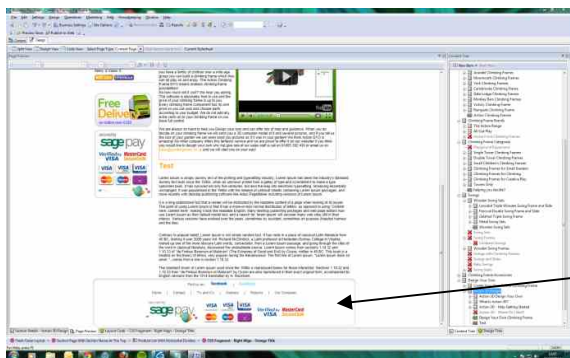

This left area is what I refer to as the 'side-banner'

Footer on a page where I have set the Fragment layout to be full width (here the footer sits correctly)

Footer where the fragment is right-aligned directly under the products, but is quite long so pushes the footer down to the bottom:

Code For footer (in Fresh Outer Layout – the main layout for the site) I have removed the div style (which sets the shaded grey box) but the footer behaves in the same way without it:

 <!-- footer -->

<div style="valign: bottom; display: block; width: 870px; height: 200px; overflow: hidden; margin: 0 auto; padding-top: 10px;
box-top.png') no-repeat top, url('http://www.climbingframes.com/images/text-box-bottom.png') no-repeat bottom, url('http://www.climbingframes.com/images/text-box-side.png');"> <!--border round footer-->
